Disaster Aid Plea Planned By the Mayor

80 Per Cent Power Failure: 350,000 Telephones Out

NEW ORLEANS (AP) -This famous, old river city was battered to a windblown, soggy junkyard after a final attack today by Hurricane Betsy. Communications and power were left in a snarl by 115 milean-hour winds during the early morning hours.

Three persons died during the storm, bringing Betsy's toll to nine after its 14-day, 2,500mile voyage of destruction.

Heavy damage was also reported in Baton Rouge and the Mississippi gulf coast around Gulfport. Numerous phone failures slowed reports from the Bayou area downriver which were first hit by the storm's top 145 m.p.h. winds and suffered the most from its muddy, 6foot tides.

Mayor Victor Schiro said he would ask that the city be declared a disaster area. Residents were told to boil drinking water after power failure at the city purification plant. But the urgent warning was difficult to transmit in a city where 80 per cent of its power was out. The communications breakdown also made it difficult to determine what damage had been done to Louisiana's billiondollar offshore oil industry or the sugar crop, which was nearing harvest. The New Orleans Public Service Corp. said the damage was the heaviest in recent history of this hurricane prone

At least 350,000 phones were out in the state, 200,000 of them in New Orleans alone. Meanwhile, Betsy, the culprit, had passed over 150 miles inland where her winds faded to below hurricane strength. The storm still brought soaking rains, however, to a wide area SAIGON, South Viet Nam of northern Louisiana and Mis-

Historical evidence indicates that hot-iron branding was practiced in Egypt as early as 2000 B.C. In the 16th century Hernando Cortez introduced branding to North America, using three Christian crosses to mark his livestock. As ranching spread across the open ranges, brands to show ownership developed into a heraldry as colorful as the armorial bearings of knights

HAVE KIMONO, WILL TRAVEL: Typical American teen-agers express admiration for kimono-clad Miss Yoshiko Usui at San Francisco International Airport where she was boarding a plane for her trip home to Tokyo. Versions of the kimono are now becoming a popular fashion for evening wear here in America as well as in Japan, where in recent years this dress was used only as a ceremonial costume.

A match pound-for-pound, Jackie Gleason and singer Helen Curtis trip a weighty fantastic in the club car of the Florida-bound "Great Gleason Express."

Crop reporters' estimates and yield surveys are summarized in 43 field offices, then sent to Washington.

On report day, commodity specialists review the state

The U.S. Department of Agriculture is not normally thought of as an agency dealing with secret documents. But at least twice a month in Washington, D.C., USDA's Statistical Reporting Service works behind locked and guarded doors. The object is to prevent advance information about harvest outlooks from leaking to speculators dealing with wheat, corn, cotton, soybeans and certain other crops that are traded on commodity exchanges. On the day a report on a speculative commodity is to be prepared and released, data forwarded from all over the country is taken from a double-lock mailbox to the lock-up room, where all window blinds are closed and sealed, phones disconnected and guards posted. When the Crop Reporting Board finishes its tabulations, the completed reports are taken to the release room and placed face down by telephones. At a signal, waiting reporters dash to the phones to give the news to the nation and the world.

shall Junction.

Singer Jan Crockett does a turn with Phil Napoleon's Dixieland Band.

The life of his own party, the host emphasizes a point in a Gleason yarn.

At the Department of Agriculture, state tabulations for speculative crops are locked in special mailbox.

One of the biggest men in show business—in more ways than one -just naturally does things in a big way. So when the time came for the trek from New York to Miami Beach for a second season of television shows from the Florida resort, Jackie Gleason traveled by chartered, 15-car de luxe train. Miami welcomed him happily.

Exodus To Schools Continues

BOSTON (AP)-For the second straight day, Negro parents used chartered buses and private cars today to transport their children to schools in predominantly white neighborhoods. At the GREW Elementary School, principal Martin Feeney refused to allow some 50 children to enter the building. He told adults with the children there were only 13 vacant seats in the school. Those seats would be given, he said, to students in the group carrying transfer permits. The adults led the youngsters to the back of the school where pupils were lined up ready to enter. But the door was closed and the youngsters, both white and Negro, were left outside. The Negro parents inaugurated the program, which they call "Operation Exodus" when the public schools opened Thursday as a protest against crowded conditions in some schools in Negro neighborhoods and the school committee's refusal to use busing to relieve the situa-Some 300 Negro children were taken to four predominantly white schools where their efforts to enroll met with mixed success Enrollment at schools in Negro neighborhoods which had been the object of the overcrowding charges were far below those expected. The parents said they were taking advantage of the school committee's open enrollment policy, which enables a child to enroll in any school in the city where there is room. If there is no room elsewhere, a child

One reason is that it takes a real car nut to tell a clean used one from a new one. VWs always look like VWs.

Another reason is that they hold up. A VW is put together so well, it's practically

And, new VW or old, there's all that nice money you keep saving on gas, oil, tires, insurance, and repairs.

Which means you can get a nice price for it. (If, for some strange reason, you'd want to sell.)

It's the kind of economy that people are willing to pay an arm and a leg for.

Those Drips Cost Money...

No official census has ever been taken of the nation's Mr. Fixits of the do-it-yourself fraternity. But their number is legion. These are the persons who have an involuntary urge to repair gadgets and by manual dexterity instill new life into wornout household objects.

We belong to this tribe of tinkerers and have a dozen projects on an agenda without regard to when if ever they are completed. Currently, a leaky flush box in a bath room has presented a demoniac challenge. The inside of one of these porcelain reservoirs looks simple at first glance if by simplicity you even remotely understand the complexity of water valves, overflow standpipes, tank balls, gaskets and floats.

The reason we became involved in attempting to repair this contrivance was to minimize an excessive water bill created no doubt by leaky valves or what not in the toilet system.

Coincidental with this was a letter in the morning mail which reveals the startling fact that 350 gallons of water weekly can be wasted by ignoring water conservation practices suggested by Dr. John H. Mahon, manager of Research and Development for Calgon Corporation.

The basis for referring to this as a coincidence is Webster's definition that a coincidence is a concurring event or circumstance remarkable from the lack of apparent casual connection. More understandable is the definition that a coincidence is like a cow sitting on a cactus bush singing like a canary.

But back to Dr. Mahon's suggestions which arrived at the very moment we were on a water-saving binge.

By following his advice, Sedalians can conserve water with little inconvenience to household management. Here are some of his recommenda-

Don't permit the water to run from the tap just for a cold drink. Keep a pitcher of drinking water in the refrigerator.

Don't wash or rinse dishes under running water going straight down the drain. Turn water on to rinse dish then shut it off.

Don't use an automatic dishwasher for less than a full load of dishes.

Don't let the water run while shaving or brushing teeth. A little water in the bowl will rinse the razor. Also, have soap in hand before turning on the faucet to wash hands.

Save water when showering. Turn off the shower flow while lathering. Save 4 to 6 gallons.

Close faucets tightly to prevent dripping. Repair all leaks. A leak of only one drop a second wastes 4 gallons of water a day. FAULTY TOILET FIXTURES WASTE MUCH

Don't fill the bathtub to the top of the tub. Bath products now available condition water, suspend dirt, and prevent "bathtub ring." You get just as clean with less water. These bath conditioners also permit the tub to be cleaned with the same bath water while the tub is draining. And, you can save 8 to 10 gallons of water.

Use cooled kitchen, laundry or bathroom rinse water on plants. Agriculturists say there is little or no risk involved and it will not interfere with normal plant growth

Ellender May Be Political Casualty

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON-At the rate Negro registration is going in the south, the first major political casualty is likely to be gnarled, despotic Allen Ellender, the senior senator

Ellender came to Washington almost thirty years ago as the successor to the famed Louisiana "Kingfish" Huey Long, whose son Russell is now the junior senator from that state. At that time, Ellender was so down to earth that he won the nickname "Potatoes" and so full of beans that this column in 1937 awarded him the brass ring.

In his long career since, Ellender has chalked up some constructive landmarks for himself and the nation. He was an inveterate foe of McCarthyism at a time when the late senator from Wisconsin was in his heyday. He was co-author of the first public housing bill, along with Bob Wagner of New York and Bob Taft of Ohio. He introduced the first aid-to-education bill and early sponsored the school lunch program.

But as the years have passed, the senator from Louisiana has moved further from the people, closer to big business, and has seemed more interested in junketing abroad and looking out for Allen Ellender than in looking out for the interests of Louislana

On his many trips abroad, Ellender has collected a personal museum ranging from African spears to Babylonian earthenware, Chinese jade and elephants' feet. Few members of Congress save Adam Clayton Powell of Harlem have traveled so much, and no senator has collected so much in the way of gifts and so little in the way of infor-

As early as 1945, Ellender became the chief opponent to Sen. Claude Pepper's minimum-wage bill to fix the minimum at

Looking Backward

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Trooper L. H. Rumans, of the Missouri Highway Patrol, formerly of Marshall, has taken over duties in Sedalia and assigned to the patrol car with Sergeant Paul E. Corl. Rumans, who had been attached to headquarters troop in Jefferson City, succeeds Lester V. Estes who resigned recently to accept a position with the Missouri Brewers' Association.

FORTY YEARS AGO

An exchange of property was made whereby G. W. Cook, a farmer residing about four and one-half miles west of Sedalia, became the owner of the Morey homestead. on the southwest corner of Ninth street and Ohio avenue. Purchase price of the Morey property was about $6.500. The homestead was owned by the heirs of A. P. Morey who first bought it in 1881. Heirs are Mrs. Morey, Mrs. R. M. Johns, Miss Jennie Morey of Jefferson City and Richard Morey of St. Louis. Prior to purchase of the property by Mr. Morey it was the home of the Latour family, the Faulhaber family and her prominent Sedalians.

65 cents an hour-as compared with the proposed $1.75 an hour now.

Civil Rights Foe

As early as 1948, Ellender first opposed civil rights in a debate with Senators Irving Ives of New York and Homer Ferguson of Michigan, both Republicans. Earlier, in 1942, a Negro civil defense marshal warned the senator from Louisiana to take refuge during an air drill and he thereupon found himself in a Negro apartment house.

Ellender has been battling against Negroes ever since. He has voted against every civil rights bill plus the Negro voting rights bill, and filibustered against several of them. He opposed the independence of American Negro republics, and home rule for the District of Columbia. He has never wavered. And the Negroes of Louisiana in turn are not wavering in their feeling toward Ellender. They will vote against him

There are 500,000 Negroes in Louisiana, with 160,000 registered as of today. At the rate registration is now progressing, around 300,000 Negroes should be registered in time to vote when Ellender comes up for reelection next year

Negroes are not the only opponents Ellender has. He has rolled up other opposition during his long three decades in the U.S. Senate. The man most likely to run against him is Camille Gravel, former Democratic national committeeman from Louisiana who was kicked off the committee because he favored a civil rights plank in the Democratic platform Negro Registration

One of the most careful states in obeying the new Negro voting rights law, believe it or not, is Mississippi. Reports to the Justice Department indicate that Mississippi has surpassed other states in the deep south -with the possible exception of Georgiain registering Negro voters since Aug. 6, when the law was passed.

During the month before the bill was passed, 6,000 Negroes were registered in Mississippi. During the two weeks immediately following passage of the law, 12,000 Negroes were registered-all by state, not federal,

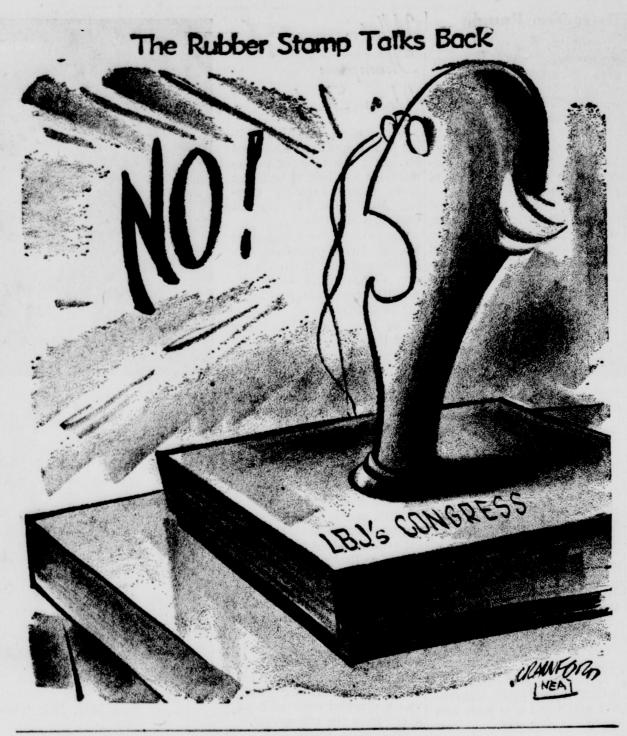

Immediately after passage of the law, Katherine Ward, registrar in Madison County, Miss., telephoned the Justice Depart-

"We are anxious to obey the law," she said, "but we have some problems in interpreting the law. One problem is whether to register illiterate Negro voters.

Miss Ward was told that Congress, in writing the law, meant to specify that if white illiterates were registered then Negro illiterates should be registered too.

Justice Department policy is not to send in federal registrars if a state or county is doing a reasonably good job on its own. That is why federal registrars have been sent to only four Mississippi counties. Two Mississippi cities, Greenville and Hattiesburg, have been doing particularly well, despite previous racial trouble in Hattiesburg. In Forrest County, Miss., the registrar is much-headlined Theron Lynd, who was sued by the federal government and held in civil contempt of court for his failure to register Negroes in 1961. Today, however.

But over-all, McNamara has many more victories than defeats to show for his bouts with Congress since 1961. One recent McNamara victory came when Johnson vetoed a bill that would have restricted sharply the defense secretary's authority to shut down obsolete and unneeded military bases. That veto underscored Johnson's backing for his secretary of defense - a backing which McNamara enjoyed under President John F. Kennedy as well. Unfailing presidential support has been a key factor in McNamara's strength in dealing with a restive congress.

Even McNamara's severe critics on Capitol Hill and in the armed services acknowledge that he has been the most forceful and effective defense secretary of all the eight men who have sat in that chair since 1947.

Some observers have speculated that McNamara eventually might be installed as a super assistant president, perhaps charged with reorganizing the ponderous machinery of the government. This kind of assignment would seem to suit Mc-Namara's demonstrated talents.

The parent's attitude causes the child to become self-conscious and apprehensive about his speech and his fear of not speaking properly develops into stuttering.

Once the pattern has been set it is hard to get rid of but speech therapists have made great strides with many victims, both children and adults. They have done this by building up the victim's confidence - after all, he has trouble with only about one word out of 10. Stressing the reader asks what causes fact that he is already speaking normally about 90 per cent of the time is both a revelation and a spiritual boost to the victim, who pictures himself as speaking poorly most of the time.

The victim is encouraged to talk more, to talk to himself aloud when no one is around and, when listening to radio or television, to repeat the words he hears as fast as he hears them. This must be done not in a monotone, but with feeling. The victim must also learn what all good musicians learn early in their careers-if you hit a wrong note occasionally, don't stop to correct it but proceed as though nothing has happened. Hardly anyone will notice the mistake.

Sing in the bathtub. Learn to breathe in a relaxed manner when you talk and remember that stuttering is not something that happens to you-it is something you do to yourself. As in any other kind of skill, practice makes perfect.

Eat First, Then Ask What

Fighting Sons Sacrificing Their Stomachs In Asia

VINH LONG, South Viet Nam (AP) — America can take pride in the knowledge that her fighting sons in Viet Nam are sacrificing their stomachs to win the minds and hearts of the people.

They are eating dogs and snakes, elephant ears, monkeys, rats and bats to save face among the Vietnamese and Montagnard troops they have come to help and advise.

"The rule is eat it first, then ask what it is," explained Capt. Ronald Griffith of Roosville, Ga., a district adviser in a remote Mekong River delta area where the garrison gourmet, on any given day, is apt to encounter worms, eels, rice, rats, raw fish and pigeon. "Often it's better not to ask, and it helps a bit not to look at it." particular, lunch in the field is an elaborate ritual. No aluminum mess kits and C rations for them. Invariably, there is a steaming cauldron of chicken soup. The American adviser, always the honored guest, is given the chicken head, a favored delicacy, along with a pair of chopsticks to pluck out the eyeballs. Primitive Montagnard tribes in the mountain areas are not so ritualistic at mealtime. Their menus, however, are apt to be a trifle more challenging: roast dog, stewed python, fricassee of monkey, all washed down with buckets of rice wine that has been fermenting in bubbling anguish under the grass huts for several months.

Almost everything that grows in Viet Nam can be eaten. The lush land, blessed with abundant rainfall, abounds in coconuts, bananas, mangoes, peanuts and all kinds of leaves and bushes that make excellent instant salads.

Often you see a Vietnamese patrol moving out, uniformed in jungle fatigues and helmets, with one man lugging a shopping bag full of groceries and another a live duck with the beak tied up so its quacking doesn't betray the action.

In the Viet Cong-infested canals of the delta, a Vietnamese sailor will hop off a River Assault Group boat at low tide to drop a water buffalo, butcher it on the spot and haul it back aboard for a deckside barbecue.

Gracious dining and guerrilla fighting go hand in hand in the inscrutable East, even if the table d'hote selection may not always appeal to the American palate.

"I don't care whether it creeps, crawls or wriggles," insisted Lt. Col. Donald L. Roberts of Port Angeles, Wash., senior adviser to Vinh Long Province in the delta. "Just as long as the Vietnamese eat it, I'll eat it."

Not all Americans are that adventurous. Some would rather spend a week in the mangrove swamps than sit down with the province chief to another one of those feasts where the courses proceed from roaring red hot peppers and sauteed cuckoo lizard to a big prime rib of water buffalo.

Sometimes there's only so much a man can do for his country.

Sgt. Percy Dedeaux of Pass Chau Thanh district, was dining one night with a regional force outfit when the Vietnamese company commander ladled a boiled constrictor out of the bubbling pot.

"It just kept coming and coming," recalled Dedeaux, "and that's when I had to call it quits."

Vietnamese want their guests to enjoy their groaning board and are easily offended if the visiting American doesn't dig in with gusto. They are particularly proud of the fish sauce that accompanies almost every meal. Its aroma has been compared to a fertilizer truck running over a skunk in front of a whaling factory in a papermill

Most Americans now think nothing of reaching for a handful of thit-bo-kho, jerked water buffalo tidbits, with a bottle of bah-mui-ba, the local lager with a strong suggestion of formaldehyde, the same as they would reach for a fistful of potato chips in a bar back home. But not many have reached the point where they snag a fat green grasshopper in midair, the way the Vietnamese do, and bite off half of it while the remaining end still wiggles its

S.Sgt. Walben Wagner of Mill Spring, N.C., a radio operator stationed in the lonely Hoa Hoa country west of the delta, summed up the courageous but cautious American approach to Vietnamese vittles. He was asked if he had eaten roast bat.

"If I did," he answered, barely blanching, "it was not advertised as such"

Newly-Named Angels Give A's Trouble

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Whether it's California or just the city of Los Angeles, the Kansas City A's had trouble

The newly-named California Angels scored four times in the first inning and never were headed as Fred Newman pitched them to a 7-2 victory over the A's in Kansas City.

Willie Smith's bases-loaded double in the inning was the big blow. Ed Charles got two of the runs back for Kansas City in their half with his seventh home run with a man on, but Newman was untouchable from then on. The A's leave town for a twinight doubleheader in Baltimore against the Orioles. Roland Sheldon (7-7) and Jim Hunter (6-6) are scheduled to hurl for Kansas City against Milt Pappas (12-7) and John Miller (6-3). The Cardinals will throw Bob Gibson (17-10) against the Phillies in Philadelphia. The Phils will counter with Chris Short (16-9).

Appropriate Jaguar For 'Morticia'

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Yvonne De Carlo, the lads vampire with the Theda Bara makeup who is such a loving wife to Herman of CBS' "The Munsters," recently took delivery on a new Jaguar sedan — gleaming black, low slung, discreetly expensive-looking.

Before she put key in the ignition, however, it was sent to a custom bodymaker, who promptly added silver rails in a coffin-handle motif around the roof, installed a bat insignia on the front, substituted hub caps that look like spider webs, and painted a realistic blood-red line around the body.

Miss De Carlo, who was a beautiful motion picture star long before she donned her Lily Munster wig of long black hair and went in for make-up that looks mortician's mauve in one looks mortician's mauve in one light and arsenic green in another, plans to use the vehicle as he personal means of transportation.

"I think it will be fun," she said. "In the old days, motion picture stars acted like stars. They dressed in attention-getting costumes. When people saw them, they knew they were looking at a movie star. I think that what this television business needs is a little more of that — the ladies with the ocelots on the gold chains."

Miss De Carlo may be right. Nowadays it's hard to tell a television star from his business manager when they are having a luncheon conference — and the stars often seem much more interested in their investments than their art. Discussions with women stars often revolve about the difficulty of getting a housekeeper who is good with children.

Even Miss De Carlo, in making her one-woman strike for a return to off-stage dramatics, is being practical.

"There's not a thing going on that car that can't be removed the minute I get bored with it,"

she confided.

The table is set and, starting Sunday, network television will start serving its new season bill of fare. First, however, will come a few hors d'oeuvres.

Tonight CBS will present an hour special, "Americans on Everest," (7:30-8:30 EDT) showing pictures shot during the climb of the world's highest mountain peak.

"The Miss America Pageant" will be televised live by CBS on Saturday night (10-midnight), with Bert Parks singing that song, and the big emotional climax as usual.

On Sunday, "Meet the Press" will pop up on NBC at 1 p.m., ABC will present an adventure film special, "Hercules" (7-8) CBS' "Perry Mason" will move into its new Sunday time period (9-10) and Ed Sullivan (8-9) will start his new season by presenting The Beatles — and Soupy Sales.

Then, too, on Sunday there is NBC's annual live telecast of

Full Steam Ahead For Edie Adams

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — There is a time to work and a time not to work, observes Edie Adams, whose career is again going full steam.

The talented blonde was subjected recently to an almost inhuman schedule. She reported early for treatment in the Paramount glamor lab, then put in a full day of emoting in "The Oscar." Afterward she rushed to a helicopter that set her down in Anaheim, where she romped through her nightly performance in "Can Can."

I asked her when she slept.

"Who sleeps?" she replied. "I'm planning to do that next Wednesday."

The double booking was an accident. "The Oscar" came up in a hurry; it offered her a chance for some real dramatics; she couldn't resist. "Never again," she vowed.

again," she vowed.

Edie was taking momentary ease in the den of the house she shared with her late husband, comedian Ernie Kovacs. It is a fantastic room — "all Ernie," she describes it. All about are crazy antiques and comic props. Musical instruments abound, and the room is wired for studio-like sound. A trap-door leads to the wine cellar.

"I think we'll sell the house and let this room go furnished, except for my harp," said Edie. "It is time to move on."

Despite her hectic professional life, Edie is philosophical. She figures there is a time for everything.

Edie could work the yeararound in films, television, night clubs and theaters, but she chose to suspend her career for a six-month period. Why? "Because of the girls," she

Man, Woman Admit Killing Of Four Men

FLAGSTAFF, Ariz. (AP) A man and woman sought in several slayings, were captured here late Thursday, and officers said the man admitted four killings.

Coconino County sheriff's deputies identified them as Donald Boggs, 23, and Dixie Radcliff, 16, of Athens, Ohio.

The girl was arrested sitting in a car registered to Warren Lenker, 25, Elizabethville, Pa., one of four murder victims.

Boggs was picked up a short distance away trying to sell some articles in an Indian trading post.

Sheriff Cecil Richardson said Boggs was identified as a man another Flagstaff service station and used a credit card

Garbage Collection Fee Nets $64,367 In First 10 Months

Revenue from Sedalia's $1per-month residential garbage collection fee has totaled $64,-367.37 through the month of August, Mayor L. L. Studer said Wednesday. The program is 10 months old.

Studer released month - by month collections of the garbage fee dating back to its start in November, 1964. The mayor noted the funds derived from the fee were to be used for salary increases for city employees, to relieve the general revenue fund to a considerable extent in the operation of the Sanitation Department and to contribute funds to an industrial program to induce new industries to locate here. The salary hikes mentioned have already been granted.

A breakdown on the garbage revenue follows:

As we take our ease and spend Labor Day in any number of different ways of our own choosing, we might pause to reflect on this and on the fuller meaning of the name we give this late-summer recess from our daily work.

It was a labor of minds that conceived the ideals on which this nation was predicated, and a labor of bodies — thousands of which perished in the struggle—that brought it into being

It was a labor of the spirit and of the body that nourished the young nation, that made it grow great and that extended it over forest, plain, desert and mountain, 2,500 miles between the two seas.

More to a Party Than a Few Drinks

By Ruth Millett Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

A scientific investigator at UCLA has found that a few drinks (the key word is few, he says) increases the flow of ideas and, therefore, it may be assumed, helps to make guests at a party more scintillating.

But lest a hostess decide from that bit of scientific data that all she needs to have a successful party is to provide her guests with a few drinks or that she can't have a good party without them, it should be remembered that other considerations are even more important.

Take the guest list, for instance. If a hostess hopes that her guests will sparkle, she had better choose them carefully for their intelligence, wit and sociability. (The UCLA scientist was quick to point out: "This does not mean that a few drinks make people think more intelli-

LABOR DAY, SEPT. 6

Nor will a hostess who is interested in giving a good party ever plan one in order to pay back everyone she "owes." Such a gathering is obviously a settling of obligations instead of a party and none of the guests feels flattered enough to have been asked to exert themselves to be entertaining.

The hostess who wants her men guests to be at their best never forgets the importance of including a few new and attractive feminine faces. (No drink ever mixed can do as much to stimulate masculine charm and wit as a fresh, new, pretty face.)

just passed setting up district boundaries to : (1) bring all districts within 10 per cent of the average; (2) eliminate the division of counties, other than those which must be divided because of size, insofar as possible; and (3) correct other apparent irregularities. Seventeen small rural counties were divided in the law and four rural districts are more than 10 per cent above or below average. Twelve of these counties can be left undivided and the four rural districts can be brought within 10 per cent of average without much trouble and without any substantial change in the law. All of the seven districts in Jackson County which deviate more than 10 per cent from the average touch districts which deviate substantially in the opposte direction; hence adjustments should be easy there.

· That the law as thus revised be accepted as a temporary re-apportionment of the Missouri House until after the 1970 census.

· That a new constitutional amendment be submitted to the voters at the 1966 election which would: (1) establish the permanent size of the House; (2) set up standards of reopportionment, such as "districts shall be made up of contiguous territory, as compact and nearly equal in population as may be,' and "no district shall deviate more than 10 per cent from the average in population;" (3) provide for the reapportionment of the Senate and House by a bi-partisan commission after the 1970 census and every 10 years thereafter; and (4) provide for the election by the people in 1970 and each 10 years thereafter of a bi-partisan commission of one Democrat and one Republican from each Congressional district to reapportion both Senate and House districts. This would eliminate the objection voiced by many to letting the Governor appoint the commission and thus holding a club over the heads of the members of the General Assembly. This would also make certain that all areas of the State would be represented on the commission. Two nominees for each position could be chosen by the respective party Congressional committees in much the same manner in which the respective party State committees now select twice the required number for the Senatorial redistricting commission.

Points In Play Shown By Hand

By JACOBY & SON 1965 Vanderbilt Cup Winners Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

The hands in Edgar Kaplan's fine book, "Winning Contract Bridge Complete," are likely to illustrate several points in bidding and play. Thus Edgar does not approve at all of South's bid of four hearts. He points out that North's three no-trump bid guarantees stoppers in all suits and that South should let his partner play the hand where he is sure to make at least one overtrick. West decides on a desperate queen of spades opening and right away South wishes he had passed at three no-trump. Wishes are worthless and he has to play the hand out. He sees no reason not to rise with dummy's king, whereupon East takes his ace and leads a second spade. Everyone follows and now East can actually defeat the contract. He must start by cashing his ace of clubs and continue by leading a third spade. This will give South a choice of losing plays. If South ruffs high, West will eventually collect a trick with the jack of trumps. If South ruffs with the 10, West will make his jack of trumps right away. Why must East take his ace of clubs before leading out the third spade? The reason is that if he doesn't take it he won't get it. South has a seven of clubs that he is going to have to lose sometime or other. "Eventually, why not now?" South discards his losing club on East's good spade. East can play a third spade or anything else that strikes his fancy but he is not going to beat the hand because dummy now is also able to ruff spades and there will be no way for West to make his jack.

In one year there were 50 of plant on the same night. Relatives, neighbors and strangers came to see the remarkable sight. The night-blooming cereus became a kind of focal point of an August evening. It always seemed disrespectful to this plant, which was having its brief hour of glory, that we would have to turn out the light and go to bed.

By the next morning all the loveliness was gone and there would be the usual headshaking at the brevity of such splendor. In these days of ranch houses and apartments there would be no room at all for a nightas an attic. The fact that it was such an event said something about the world in which I lived

Democrat Pick-ups

IT WAS IN the depot where a woman sat waiting for a train to St. Louis, and so she reached in her purse, took out her folding fan which she always carries and started fanning.

A woman with two small children was waiting, too, and one of the little girls about 4 years old kept watching her as she fanned. Evidently she had never seen anyone use a fan before and she was fascinated.

Finally she edged her way over to the woman with the fan and stood watching. The woman smiled and fanned the child four or five times. Feeling the cool air the little girl looked up at her with sur-"Oh," she said, "it's an air
